

TRAVEL INTEL · HOTELS

Where You Should Stay in 2015 – Best New Hotels of the Past Year

Written by David Jefferys · Debbie Strong

January 01, 2015

BEGIN SLIDESHOW

Share

Of the hundreds and hundreds of new hotel openings around the world in 2014, we've chosen our 101 most interesting—from the truly grand Peninsula in Paris to the understatedly chic Abode in Mumbai. View as List

DAVID JEFFERYS

Born in NYC, raised in Delhi & London... the travel bug bit me young.

MORE ON DAVID JEFFERYS

SHARE THIS SLIDESHOW

25 / 111

Share

Grid View

Pikaia Lodge, Galápagos Islands, Ecuador

What? The very latest in eco-friendly and well-designed lodges in the far-flung Galápagos, Pikaia earns gold stars for more than that. It's small, chic, and far from the madding crowds (especially if you opt for an island stay instead of an in-an-out cruise from the mainland).

Get me there now! Santa Cruz is the most populated, but not largest, of the islands. Nonstop flights can be taken from both Quito and Guayaquil on LAN.

Courtesy SLH

